On the second day of the World Economic Forum, Tuesday, Union Minister Shri Pralhad Joshi, Chief Minister Shri Hemant Soren, Deputy Chief Minister of Gujarat Shri Harsh Rameshbhai Sanghavi, and others will engage in a roundtable meeting organised under the aegis of the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) in Davos, together with senior policymakers, CEOs of various companies, and institutional investors.

During the meeting, deliberations will be held on what a sustainable development action plan should look like and what is required to achieve it. It is noteworthy that the world's sustainable development agenda is entering a critical phase. With the pace of change accelerating across climate, resources, and technology, the challenge for governments, businesses, and investors is no longer merely to set ambitious goals, but to organise and embed sustainable development rapidly across all sectors of the real economy, without compromising competitiveness.

Key Focus Areas of the Meeting

The meeting will focus on implementation approaches across energy, infrastructure, manufacturing, technology, and human resources; policy alignment and the role of managers; operating in a fragmented global environment and building long-term value. Moving beyond pilot projects, the session will provide practical insights into scaling solutions, coordinating public and private action, and integrating sustainability with productivity and collaboration.
